

Sue Hassmiller, Ph.D., R.N., F.A.A.N.

Senior program officer
Health Care Group
Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (RWJF)

Dr. Sue Hassmiller is a senior program officer and team leader for the Nursing Team. She also works in the areas of public health, quality improvement and leadership development.

Before joining RWJF in September 1997, Hassmiller was with the Health Resources and Services Administration, where she was the executive director of the U.S. Public Health Service Primary Care Policy Fellowship and other national and international primary care initiatives. She also has worked in public health settings at the local and state level. Hassmiller taught public health nursing at the University of Nebraska and George Mason University in Virginia. She has dedicated her career to the care of improving health care for underserved populations.

Hassmiller is a fellow in the American Academy of Nursing and a member of the National Board of Governors for the American Red Cross, where she serves as chair of the Disaster and Chapter Services Committee and a member of the organization's executive committee. She also is a member of the JCAHO National Nurse Advisory Council and the National Johnson & Johnson Dare to Care Advisory Committee.

Hassmiller received a Ph.D. in nursing administration and health policy from George Mason University in Fairfax, Va., master's degrees in health education from Florida State University and community health nursing from the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha, and a bachelor's degree in nursing from Florida State University.